

From the Angel's Blackboard: The Best of Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen
Liguori Publications

Great Read. Great for an SCC. A bit more intellectual and question provoking than some other books. These are the thoughts that came to mind while reading excerpts of this book. Fulton Sheen has a way of reeling you in and making you want for more. He makes you WANT to talk about and debate what he says. He takes an example of a situation, breaks it apart, analyzes it, and asks thought provoking questions about it. That is precisely why this book could be used in an SCC discussion format. For, even though there are no "Study Questions", per se, the Archbishop asks enough questions in his dialogue that a group could just flow along and even read aloud a short chapter and discuss on the spot.

A group could start their time with prayer, song, read a short chapter aloud, discuss, shared or closing prayer. There you have it.... A meeting with meaning but not a lot of preparation. Leave it to Archbishop Sheen, he will guide you!
